Belgian Troops Clear Leopoldville Airport

Troops Kill One Soldier, Wound One

In Brisk Exchange Of Gunfire, Three Civilians Wounded

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo—(AP)—Belgian parachutists cleared Leopoldville airport of Congolese soldiers in less than an hour today in a brisk exchange of gunfire and hand grenades. One Congolese soldier was killed and one wounded. Three Belgian civilians were wounded.

Gen. Geysens, commanding the Belgian forces in Leopoldville, his face white with anger, said he was taking over the airport.

Troops of the Force Publique—Congolese army—perhaps 200 of them, had moved into the airport earlier. They did not interfere with the movements of refugees. But when a Belgian military plane landed with two wounded soldiers they refused to let Belgians take charge of them. Instead they put them under guard in the airport dispensary.

Congolese were guarding some 200 white refugees. As rifle shots sounded, women and children ran screaming to the corners of a lounge room. A baggage clerk thoughtfully placed a line of suitcases around a group.

Belgian parachutists burst through the front doors and three Congolese soldiers headed for the staircase. They fired their rifles wildly.

Parachutists cornered several Congolese soldiers on the roof and there was an exchange of gunfire in which one Congolese soldier was killed.

There were frequent bursts of gun fire.

Congolese soldiers scattered in all directions.

Gardner Elected To Symphony's President Post

Robert S. Gardner was elected president of the Sedalia Symphony at a meeting of the board Monday at Bothwell Hotel. Gardner, who is a member of the Martin, Gibson and Gardner law firm, resides at 2606 Plaza.

Other officers are: Mrs. Al Miles, vice-president; Arthur Morgan, treasurer, and Mrs. Leonard Peabody, secretary.

Members of the board are: Harry Walsh, Harold Silberstein, Mrs. Burris Carter, Mrs. Esther Gottschamer, Carl Schrader, Mrs. John Zulauf, Arthur Morgan, Mrs. Russell Rhodes, Mrs. Al Miles, James Denney, Mrs. Leonard Peabody, Jack Faber, Bob Gardner, Jack Crawford, and Mrs. E. F. Yancey, ex-officio.

Plans were made for the coming season and for the Centennial year the Symphony is planning some outstanding programs.

Mrs. Yancey presented to the organization a check for $10 from Hazel Pierce, Tucson, Ariz., who is interested in the Sedalia Symphony and wants to be a patron.

Airman Is Critically Injured in Accident Near Warrensburg

An airman was critically injured early Wednesday morning when his automobile blew a tire and overturned, rolling several times on Highway 50.

Injured was A-1c William J. Hughes, Whiteman AFB. He was taken to the Warrensburg Medical Center.

Base officials gave the following account of the accident: Airman Hughes was traveling west one mile east of Warrensburg at about 1:45 a.m. when the left rear tire blew out, causing him to lose control of the vehicle.

The car traveled 210 feet before going off the left side of the one-way highway. It turned over and rolled several times, coming to rest across the median in the east-bound lane of traffic.

Hughes was thrown 94 feet beyond the car, which stopped 504 feet from the point of blowout.

Hughes was taken to the medical center by the ambulance of the Brauminger Funeral Home.

Investigation was made by Trooper John Cummins.

Red Pilot Awarded Medal; Shot Down Reconnaissance Plane

MOSCOW (AP)—Capt. Vasily Polyakov, the Soviet fighter pilot who shot down an American RB47 reconnaissance plane July 1, has been awarded the Order of the Red Banner, Moscow papers announced today.

Not Much Hope For Crewmen

Expect Khrushchev To Try 2 Fliers For Espionage

WASHINGTON—(AP)—U.S. officials hold little hope of winning freedom for two Air Force officers held in the Soviet Union after the shooting down of an American reconnaissance bomber on July 1.

The expectation here is that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will put the two men on trial on charges of espionage in order to promote his campaign against American bases in Allied countries. But when a Belgian military plane landed with two wounded soldiers they refused to let Belgians take charge of them. Instead they put them under guard in the airport dispensary.

Congolese were guarding some 200 white refugees. As rifle shots sounded, women and children ran screaming to the corners of a lounge room. A baggage clerk thoughtfully placed a line of suitcases around a group.

Drive Against Violators

City Auto License Check Being Made

Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin said today that police officers have been instructed to check all cars parked in Sedalia, in a drive against city license violators.

"They have been instructed to continue the search from now on," Hamlin stated. "There will be no let-up in the drive."

As of July 12, police have tagged 53 cars or trucks for not having the city sticker, and the owners have each been fined $10. In addition, 25 Sedalia car or truck owners have failed to display the sticker, after obtaining the license at the collector's office, and the owners were each fined $10.

It has been the policy of Judge Leonard Ditzfeld to grant a stay on $5 of the $10 fine, if the owner has purchased the license, on condition that he properly display the sticker.

Displaying the sticker according to the instructions on the back of the sticker is important, according to police officials. There is no law against leaving it in the transparent container and sticking the container and license to the windshield, but this is not a good idea.

Zaza Ralph, 301 West Morgan, reported Tuesday morning that he had his sticker fastened to the windshield of his car with plastic tape, and during the night someone removed it. Even if it just comes loose and falls to the floor of the car, the owner may be fined for not displaying the sticker.

Everyone living in Sedalia must have a city license for his car, truck or motorcycle, according to the city ordinances. If the resident moves into Sedalia during the license year, which begins June 1 of each year, and has a current license from another city, that license will be honored until it becomes invalid, then the ve-

United States Offers Aid; Not Troops

Would Support Any UN Forces By Other Nations

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States is reportedly willing to provide technicians and financial support—but no troops—for any United Nations force sent to put down the mutiny in the African Congo.

Top officials outlined the administration's attitude in the wake of a White House declaration that countries other than the United States should provide the forces. The Congo government has requested to restore order.

President Eisenhower, at his vacation headquarters in Newport, R.I. late Tuesday turned down the Congo's appeal for 3,000 American troops. Eisenhower said via a White House spokesman that "it would be better for the Congo" if no troops were sent from "any of the large Western nations" on such an emergency mission.

Authoritative officials sought to make clear today that the United States did not propose to stand aloof entirely from any U.N. action which might be decided upon.

American planes might be used to rush a U.N. force to the trouble spots, authorities said. Furthermore, civilian technicians as well as funds could be allocated to meet other requirements, they added.

But they stressed that the U.S. government felt it should not be involved in troop action. This peace-making role, they said, could better be carried out by smaller nations, particularly those in Africa.

The administration's attitude appeared to reflect a determination to avoid involving American forces in what was viewed as a thankless task which well might wind up in a propaganda setback.

Attacks 'Peace, Prosperity'

Collins Gives Convention Old-Fashioned Oratory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida has told the Democratic National Convention it must proclaim an America committed to war against colonialism, poverty, hunger, disease, ignorance and prejudice.

Collins, permanent chairman of the convention, gave its second session Tuesday an old-fashioned political speech, full of sonorous, rolling phrases and couched in generalities.

Unlike the keynote address the previous night by Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, Collins' speech did not attack President Eisenhower or Vice President Richard M. Nixon by name. His criticism of the GOP was more or less indirect.

"An America headed for moral bankruptcy under a self-satisfied banner of 'peace and prosperity' never can win a world for democracy and human freedom," Collins said.

"Indeed, the American people, hearing this Republican chant of 'peace and prosperity,' are sickened when abroad, the causes of war are virtually untouched, and when, at home, there is little peace of mind and serious lack of prosperity of spirit."

Collins recited a litany of praise for past Democratic presidents.

"In times of deepest crisis, when history has required that great presidents be produced, the Democratic party has risen to the challenge," he added.

"The call to our party here and now is to produce for our nation a leader capable of again bringing Americans to their feet, filling with pride and glowing with courage—not out of fear but out of faith in America and a better world for all."

Collins, as one of the chief officers of the convention, went to some lengths to avoid anything that could smack of favoritism to any candidate for the nomination, though Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts now appears to have it all but sealed and delivered.

Collins had strongly denied charges that the convention was rigged in Kennedy's favor, and in his speech he was careful to praise all sections of the country equally. New England, the South, the Midwest, the Pacific Northwest, and Western states.

He said the purpose of America "has been made to appear confused in a world in which hundreds of millions of newly awakened men and women are struggling for freedom and bread and respect."

He seemed to be talking about the Republican party when he said: "We are not content with the gradual stagnation of the world's most productive economy by unreasonable official fears that rapid economic growth will lead inevitably to inflation."

"We are not content to see our natural resources eroded away or pillaged for private advantage."

He mentioned several other issues Democrats may try to raise against Republicans in the coming election campaign, among them inadequate educational programs and medical care for the aged.

Collins, a Southern governor who turned some Southerners against him by what is regarded as a moderate stand on racial problems, included this phrase: "We are not content with racial and religious prejudices which continue to stifle opportunity."

Kansas May Do It All Over Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kansas may do it all over again today. "I wouldn't be surprised if we didn't have another caucus," National Committee Chairman Frank Theis said Tuesday night.

If they do, it will be to try and ram through again the proposal by Gov. George Docking that he be released as a favorite son candidate.

The delegation voted 23 to 19 Tuesday to stick by a state convention decree that Docking be the first ballot choice for the state's 21 votes.

Docking had pleaded with the delegation to turn him loose and throw the state's vote to Sen. John F. Kennedy.

"You'll be missing the boat," he said.

Their and Rep. Newell George both said there was a good chance of another caucus today, possibly around 10 a.m.

"I don't know whether the delegation will go for Kennedy," they said. "But I think there's a possibility it will release Docking as a favorite son."

Nominating of presidential candidates at the Democratic convention starts today.

Theis is scheduled to nominate Docking, with Mrs. Georgie Neese Gray providing the second. She is Kansas' national committeewoman.

George said he thought the matter of first ballot procedure by Kansas could be worked out.

"Give us a couple of quiet hours and we can do it," he said.

Under the unit rule, Kansas' 21 votes must be cast as a package.

Kennedy supporters claim they can get the votes on the second ballot. Backers of Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri claim they can't.

Docking told the delegates Kennedy was a cinch to win the nomination. He said if Kansas tossed its 21 votes his way, the state would stand to benefit greatly if Kennedy got elected.

But Rep. Floyd Breeding said the only way the delegation would go along on a first ballot for Kennedy would be a definite statement that Docking would get the vice president's nomination.

Docking has been mentioned as a vice presidential possibility with Kennedy.

The governor said Robert Kennedy, John's brother, had explained there could be no deals.

"I ran for governor on a no deal position," Docking said. I know their position. Those people don't make deals. They ydon't have to."

The governor left the hotel shortly after the caucus and spent much of his time after that with his wife, hospitalized with a nasal hemorrhage. She is due to be released today after becoming ill Monday night.

He seemed to be talking about the Republican party when he said: "We are not content with the gradual stagnation of the world's most productive economy by unreasonable official fears that rapid economic growth will lead inevitably to inflation."

"We are not content to see our natural resources eroded away or pillaged for private advantage."

Bible Salesman Admits Choking Girl With Pants

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say they hope a lie detector test will tell whether a man held in connection with the strangulation of a coed is the "Bouncing Ball" killer wanted for seven other murders.

Detectives said Raymond W. Clemons, 36, a San Quentin parolee and door-to-door Bible salesman, has admitted strangling Nina T. Thoeren, 19, with her scapri pants Tuesday.

Her late father, Robert T. Thoeren, was an author of mystery books and screen plays including "Act of Murder" and "The Prowler."

Police said Clemons told them he offered the attractive coed a ride and then told her: "Sure, I'm the Bouncing Ball killer. Look in the glove compartment. The ball is in there."

Seven other women have been strangled in Los Angeles in recent months. Police say a man seen calmly bouncing a rubber ball after killing an elderly woman, the latest of the other victims, may have killed them all.

The ball bouncer, like Clemons, was a Negro.

Clemons was arrested after Miss Thoeren's screams attracted police. Her half-nude body was found nearby on the campus of Los Angeles City College, where she was a student.

Clemons, booked on suspicion of murder, told police the coed screamed when he made advances to her and "I just wanted to make her stop screaming."

An autopsy disclosed that Miss Thoeren had not been raped.

Lightning Stuns Tots

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A lightning bolt stunned five children under a tree in a Wichita park during a severe thunderstorm Tuesday. None was hurt seriously.

Policeman Earl Lathrom, checking on an auto accident nearby, saw the bolt strike.

"It bowled the children over like tempos," Lathrom said.

Zonne Riddle, R. Dean Gardner United In Double Ring Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony at the Methodist Church Saturday evening, June 18, Miss Zonne Riddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Caldwell, Windsor, became the bride of Mr. R. Dean Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gardner, Windsor. The Rev. Roy Stribling read the ceremony.

Four candelabra, entwined with huckleberry, held burning tapers and were placed before a background setting of white and pink gladioli.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. James O. Fettner. Mr. Darrel Dundas sang "At Dawning" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt before the altar. He also sang, "Through the Years."

Candlelighters were Miss Kay Christian, Kansas City, and Miss Karen Peck.

Given in marriage by Mr. Caldwell, the bride wore a misty white wedding gown of handclipped Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta and net. The basque was fashioned with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and tiny lace sleeves. She wore short white gloves. The bouffant skirt of tulle was highlighted with a wide panel of lace down the front and back with lace medallions over the tulle that swept into an aisle wide chapel train. Her veil of French illusion fell from a small crown of lace covered with tiny seed pearls. She carried a white Bible covered with a white orchid and pink sweetheart roses tied with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Robert Fretwell, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was pink flocked nylon over white with pink chiffon sash tied in back which fell to the length of the gown. Her head-dress was a short pink veil and she wore short white gloves and carried a white camellia bouquet.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Don Sisson, Kansas City, and Mrs. John Dhone, Topeka, Kan., wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor. They carried white gladioli with pink rosebuds in each one.

Flower girl was Miss Karla Kay Caldwell. She wore a white flocked nylon gown over pink with a pink chiffon sash tied in back. Master Ronnie Caldwell was ringbearer.

Mrs. Wayne Gardner, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Mr. Max Coble and Mr. Jerry Harrell. Ushers were Mr. Irvin Lee Bradley and Mr. Wayne Gardner.

Following the ceremony a reception was given in Wesley Hall. The bride's table was covered with a white lace table cloth over pink. The four-tier wedding cake was decorated with pink roses, sugar bells and calla lilies. There were two small round cakes on each side and two

The groom's mother wore a navy blue Jersey with navy and white with pink chiffon sash tied in back which fell to the length of the gown. Her head-dress was a short pink veil and she wore short white gloves and carried a white camellia bouquet.

After the reception the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Colorado and South Dakota. For traveling, the bride chose a white brocaded sheath with matching accessories, and a white orchid corsage. The couple will make their home in Sedalia.

United In Marriage

Miss JoAnn Schroeder and Mr. Robert L. Spriggs were united in marriage Saturday, July 2, at Bethel Lutheran Church in San Francisco, Calif. by Pastor H. Schroeder.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Schroeder, El Sobrante, Calif., formerly of Sedalia, and the granddaughter of Harvey S. Barman and the late Pearl Barman, Sedalia. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Spriggs, Columbus, Kansas.

The couple will reside in San Pablo, Calif.

KC Woman Held Without Bond For Murders

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Sharon Kinne, 20, is being held without bond on first degree murder indictments in the deaths of her husband and the wife of a man she dated after she became a widow.

A Jackson County grand jury returned the indictments Tuesday and Mrs. Kinne was arraigned immediately in circuit court.

Her husband, Jas. A. Kinne, 25, was shot in the back of the head while taking a nap at their home March 19.

At that time, officers decided the Kinnes' 2½-year-old daughter could have fired the shot while playing with a pistol beside the bed. Mrs. Kinne said she was in the bathroom.

The investigation was reopened after Mrs. Patricia Jones, 23, was found shot to death May 27 in a lover's lane near Independence, Mo.

The woman's husband, Walter T. Jones, 23, and Mrs. Kinne told police they started dating April 18. He is an automobile salesman and met her when she bought an expensive sports car.

Prosecutor William A. Collet filed a murder charge against Mrs. Kinne June 1 in the Jones case.

Mrs. Kinne was scheduled to have a preliminary hearing on that charge Thursday but the indictments erased need for the hearing. The indictments are returnable Sept. 12 for the setting of a trial date.

Loses Left Leg In Auto Crash Here Tuesday

Emmett Buckley, 66, of 619 North Stewart, lost his lower left leg Wednesday morning as a result of a car-pedestrian accident at Main and Missouri Tuesday night.

Dr. Donald Proctor, who gave the injured man emergency treatment shortly after the accident, said the leg was so badly mangled that it had to be removed.

Dr. Proctor reported that the patient was doing well, and is at Bothwell Hospital where he was taken Tuesday night by the Ewing ambulance.

According to the accident report Buckley was struck as he was walking in the roadway by a 1957 Ford being driven south on Missouri by Raymond Gann, 1906 South Sneed.

Gann told police he saw the pedestrian, and tried to stop, but it was too late to avoid the accident.

The diagram indicates the Gann had approached Main, stopped for a stop-and-go sign, and hit the pedestrian, who was walking against traffic, just across the street. The accident occurred during the rainstorm Tuesday night.

It was Kansas City's 33rd traffic death of the year. By the same date last year, the toll was 20.

Classes from 1900-1926

Former Sedalia Students Hold a Meeting Tuesday

A meeting of former students of Sedalia High School was held in the Assembly Room of the Courthouse Tuesday with 29 persons present, representing classes from 1900 through 1926.

Former students attending signed cards with their name, address, telephone number, and class. Classes represented were: 1900-1, 1901-1, 1902-1, 1903-1, 1904-1, 1905-1, 1906-1, 1907-1, 1908-1, 1909-1, 1910-1, 1911-1, 1912-1, 1913-1, 1914-1, 1915-1, 1916-1, 1917-1, 1918-1, 1919-1, 1920-1, 1921-1, 1922-1, 1923-1, 1924-1, 1925-2, 1926-2.

Those present were urged to contact other members of their class and inform them of the planned reunion. Miss Mamie McCormick stated that those wishing to obtain names of members of their class may do so by contacting the Superintendent's Office, Smith-Cotton High School. Graduates of 1914 and earlier will need this list to contact their class. Later graduates will be able to consult their year books or those at the school library to obtain names.

Plans of centennial week were discussed. It was the consensus of those present that a banquet on Thursday night, Oct. 20, would best fit into the centennial week.

Harry Walch and Jim Green were appointed to investigate the possibilities and report at the next meeting.

It was suggested that Kenneth Lee, Centennial Publicity Chairman, be asked to serve as Publicity Chairman for this group.

In order that those present may know what classes were represented, each person stood and gave his or her name and class. It was noted which classes were not represented. Miss Mamie McCormick will attempt to contact classes of 1896, '97, '98, 1903, '04, '06, '07; Mrs. Nina Carpenter, 1915 and 1916; and Mr. Luther Luckett, 1911, '12, '20, and '21.

It was suggested that a letter be drafted, to be approved at the next meeting, to be sent to those living away from Sedalia. Enclosed with the letter will be a list of available hotel and motel rooms and a centennial program.

The next meeting will be July 26 at 7:30 p.m. in the Courthouse.

The dead were Mrs. Robert Haukap of Columbit, Mo., her infant son; and Anne Marie Wilta, 9 months.

Besides Haukap, the injured were Mrs. Sophie Anne Wilta of St. Ann, Mo., mother of the dead girl; and Robert Haukap, a University of Missouri student.

Mrs. Wilta and her daughter were riding with Haukap.

Duliba, 25, of Glen Lyon, Pa., was on his way to Kansas City, Kan., to attend the wedding Wednesday of a teammate, Ray Sadecki.

The dead were Mrs. Robert Haukap of Columbit, Mo., her infant son; and Anne Marie Wilta, 9 months.

Besides Haukap, the injured were Mrs. Sophie Anne Wilta of St. Ann, Mo., mother of the dead girl; and Robert Haukap, a University of Missouri student.

Mrs. Wilta and her daughter were riding with Haukap.

Duliba was reported in serious condition at a Bonnville hospital.

He had a head injury and possible internal injuries. Mrs. Wilta also was in serious condition.

The accident was 15 miles east of Bonnville on U. S. 40.

Coin Club to Meet

The Central Missouri Coin Club will hold its regular monthly meeting in the assembly room of the Pettis County Court House Thursday, July 14, at 7:30 p.m.

Members are asked to bring with them any coins or currency that they wish to sell or trade and will be free to work out their deals with buyers or traders.

Visitors interested in the collecting of coins and new members are always welcome.

Tin Pan Alley Goes 'Oop'

By DICK KLEINER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—During the last week of school in most communities up and down the hallowed halls ran youngsters yelling, "Oop, Oop, Oop."

Fortunately, the summer vacations came just in time to save the teachers' sanity, but now that same cheerful cry—"Oop, Oop, Oop"—is ringing out on beaches, in camps, along city streets and country lanes. This is, in case your radio is out of whack, the gist of a new song which is sweeping the nation.

"Alley Oop" is loosely based on V. T. Hamlin's Newspaper Enterprise Association comic strip. In words and monosyllables, it tells about the cave man who is:

"The toughest man there is alive
"Wearin' clothes from a wild cat's hide
"He's the king of the jungle jive."

In and among those bits of poesy there are countless "Oops," sufficient to give the record the "new sound" all hit singles apparently must have. In a few weeks, the original release of "Alley Oop" zoomed to number two position on the Cash Box and Variety charts, with every indication of ooping up to first in short order.

There have been three cover records. There have been TV appearances by the group which first popularized the tune. There is a follow-up record coming, then an album. An Alley Oop doll is being produced.

And even cartoonist Hamlin, who won't go so far as to say he likes the song, generously admits it's "catchy."

"Alley Oop," the song, is one of those Jerry-built rock 'n' rollers. It was basically the creation of Dallas Frazier, a 20-year-old, good-looking, goaded songwriter from Bakersfield, Calif. Frazier has had some tunes recorded before, but this is the first time he's gone the hit route.

As a long time Alley Oop comic strip fan, the thought occurred to him that there was a song there somewhere. He wrote the lyrics. And he brought them to Al Kavellin, co-publisher of the big Doris Day hit, "Que Sera Sera," who just started his own recording company, Lute.

Kavellin thought the Oop idea was cute. And he in turn took the Frazier lyrics to Gary Paxton (he's the Flip of the recording team of Skip and Flip). Among the three, they worked out the music and Paxton produced the record. He assembled a group of singers and instrumentalists, called them the Hollywood Argyles, and presto, a hit was made.

Although the Hollywood Argyles were a unit thrown together solely to make this record, the tremendous success of "Alley Oop" has made them decide to stick together, at least until they milk the commercial possibilities of the hit. They did the song on The Dick Clark Show (and Clark spent more for the Alley Oop set and costumes than he'd ever spent on any other song production). And, currently, they're touring the West Coast on the strength of Oop.

Kavellin is preparing a follow-up on his subsidiary label (two releases and he's already got a subsidiary; that's the record business). Trans-World. This will be called "Cholly Oop," a Chinese-flavored take-off. You simply take the same orchestral track, overdub a voice with a Chinese lilt, add new lyrics (instead of "dinosaur," you read "rickshaw") and that's it.

Meanwhile, three other "Alley up on an Oop.

Pipe Smoker Not Intellectual

Peripatetic Chimneys Freed From Deserving Punishment

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Now that they have eradicated bubonic plague, dancemarathons and the tics in the Jersey meadows, it's high time some high-minded crusader took out after pipe smokers.

For centuries these peripatetic chimneys have gone unpunished while carelessly stewing hot ashes on the hearthstone of humanity.

The forgotten hero who dumped a bucket of water on Sir Walter Raleigh's initial attempt to introduce pipe smoking to Europe deserves better of history. He failed, but he had the right idea.

Mortal man seldom looks more ridiculous than when sucking on a noisome blazing bowl or groping feverishly in an oil silk sack for the fuel to feed a ludicrous habit that he cannot kick. By comparison, the cigarette smoker is an urbane sophisticate and the cigar smoker a paragon of dignity.

Yet it is the pipe smoker, rather than the man with the cigarette or cigar, who frequently is taken for an intellectual—a classic case of mistaking conflagration for cerebration. Behind the blue swirl of pipe smoke, there is seldom intellectual fire.

on a pipe stem may give the impression of mulling over some problem in nuclear fission or pondering some sticky point in Aristotelean logic. Actually, all his physical and mental contortions are concentrated on keeping the absurd boiler beneath his nose going full blast. The fires within have been banked too long.

His thoughts at their deepest concern such titanic issues as whether to tamp down the tobacco tighter or fluff it up looser, and whether to reach into his pocket for a cotton reaming rod to scrape out his nicotine sewer in public.

The fact that the average pipe smoker can keep his counsel in a heated discussion doesn't mean that he is any more prudent, tolerant or worldly wise than the rest of us. It simply means that he is too busy playing stoker to his facial furnace to hear or care about what is being discussed.

People in all walks of life, from tweedy college professors to seedy skidrow deadbeats, have been hiding behind a haze of hypocrisy for years, with nothing more on their minds than whether to puff hard or puff easy. An impatient world invariably mistakes their reticence for sagacity.

But not everyone is fooled.

Sought Killer Lies in Coma From Bullet

UNION, N.J. (AP) — Michael Fekcs, a Hungarian refugee accused of murdering six persons, lay in a coma on a hospital bed today, a policeman's bullet lodged in the base of his skull.

The end of one of the most intense manhunts in the state's history came Tuesday night when Fekcs tried to shoot it out with two policemen on a dirt road in a wooded area.

He fired a volley of wild shots before being brought down by a bullet fired by Union Patrolman Walter Leamy.

Fekcs, 25, a lover of sports cars, formal clothes, and jazz records, was being sought by police for questioning in connection with the slaying of two policemen in Highland Park last Sunday.

The search gathered momentum Tuesday after Middlesex County Prosecutor Edward J. Dolan said that Fekcs had killed the two policemen and had slain four other persons on a North Brunswick estate last January.

Doctors at Elizabeth General Hospital said the bullet had caused a massive brain hemorrhage and Fekcs was not expected to live.

Fekcs was picked up Sunday for driving with a revoked operator's license. The two arresting Franklin Township patrolmen, George Dunham, 31, and John Lebed, 30, took him to his apartment so he could get $250 for bail.

The policemen later were found slain on the floor of the one-room apartment. Each had a .32-caliber bullet in his right temple. The murder weapon and Lebed's .38-caliber service revolver were missing.

Dolan said ballistics tests showed the same gun used to kill the two policemen was used to kill four persons on the estate of Dr. Francis Clarke last Jan. 26.

An unidentified person entered Clarke's home while he was away performing an operation, tied up four persons, and shot each through the temple with a .32-caliber pistol. The victims were Clarke's 57-year-old invalid wife, her companion, a maid, and the Newark cab driver who drove the slayer to the large colonial house.

High National Honor Finally Given Scientist

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A brilliant scientist today receives one of the nation's highest honors for an antiradar invention so vital that it is still classified as a top secret.

Rear Adm. Walter F. Rodee, commander of 11th Naval District air bases, will give Dr. Otto Halpern a special Defense Department medal in ceremonies at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The fact that Dr. Halpern had to fight for 18 years for his right to the honor is of no significance to him today.

"Wouldn't it be ungracious of me to complain," he said in an interview Tuesday, "when the Defense Department is doing everything it can now to make up for those bitter years?"

A year ago Dr. Halpern was awarded $340,000 by the Defense Department in settlement of his 18-year court battle for recognition as inventor of a material that helped U.S. planes and ships evade enemy radar in World War II and the Korean conflict.

A theoretical physicist, he developed his idea while working at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1941, and it was put to work by the Navy.

When he tried to patent his invention, the government ruled that granting a patent would make his secret processes public.

Rescue Parties Trying To Reach Wreckage

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP) — Two rescue parties struggled up 15,423-foot-high Mt. Pinchincha today, trying to reach the wreckage of a U.S. military transport in which it was feared 18 persons died.

Air searchers spotted the wreckage 14,000 feet up the mountain Tuesday and reported they saw no sign of life. Headed by Lt. Col. James E. Sever, U.S. air attaché in Bogota, Colombia, the party of six American military men, two Ecuadorian diplomats, four wives and six children were flying to Quito for presentation of the U.S. Legion of Merit to the head of Ecuador's air force Monday.

Sputnik IV Doomed

BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Air Force scientists say the rocket of Sputnik IV, the Soviet space capsule launched May 15, has about a week to live.

They predicted Tuesday the rocket which launched the 4½-ton capsule will reenter the earth's atmosphere and burn up between July 18 and 20.

The estimate was made at the National Space Surveillance and Control Center, operated by the Air Force Cambridge Research Center.

The satellite and rocket broke into at least nine pieces when an attempt was made to separate the capsule from the rocket. Eight of the pieces are still in orbit.

Denver Has Version Of Tickertape Parade

DENVER (AP) — Denver's first version of a ticker tape reception scattered thousands of bits of telephone directory pages over 12,000 Shriners who paraded for six hours Tuesday through the downtown district.

The colorful march at the Shriners' annual convention coincided with the distribution of new telephone directories. Office workers along the route tore the old directories to shreds and showered the marchers with the paper scraps that drifted curb deep in some blocks.

About 200,000 spectators turned out for the parade that blocked the central business area to ordinary traffic and slowed all activity to a walk.

More than 500 clowns enlivened the parade. The marchers were brilliantly garbed in costumes of Arabic origin.

Oak Leaves Carry Nostalgia of Ike

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Army reserve officer Sal Pinto received a pair of silver oak leaves—the insignia of a lieutenant colonel—Tuesday at a promotion party with nostalgia.

The insignia once was worn by another lieutenant colonel—Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Col. John M. Pound (Ret.) presented the insignia to Pinto.

Pound said Eisenhower, "around 1938, before he had any idea he would be an occupant of the White House," gave the leaves to newly promoted lieutenant colonel, William Hutchins.

Hutchins gave them to a new lieutenant colonel named William T. Plumber in 1943. Plumber gave them to Pound.

Texas Is Drenched By 7 Inches of Rain

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Accompanied by a spectacular electrical storm, cloudbursts clubbed the south plains of west Texas again Tuesday with up to seven inches of rain.

Lightning struck at least five buildings in Lubbock, but no major damage or injuries were reported. One bolt stunned a girl near Littlefield, in the same area.

A broad band of thunderstorms swept eastward out of New Mexico, smashing anew at a sector still recovering from destructive floods last week.

The deluge was heaviest around McAdoo, where Crosby County Farm Agent Lee Suther estimated 5 to 7 inches of rain fell.

Thumbnail Sketch Of Demo Planks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Here's a thumbnail sketch of the major planks of the platform adopted Tuesday night by the Democratic National Convention.

FOREIGN POLICY — Restore the nation's military, political, economic and moral strength so that it might more effectively lead the free world in its search for a stable peace and an expanding world economy.

NATIONAL DEFENSE — Recast the nation's military capacity in order to provide forces and a diversity of weapons sufficient to deter limited or general aggressions.

WORLD TRADE — Press for reduction of foreign barriers to U.S. products.

NAT'L ECONOMIC GROWTH — Pledges policies to speed rate of economic growth. These would include an end of what was called the tight money policy of the Republicans, control of inflation, aid to economically depressed areas, broadening of minimum wage benefits, and planning for industrial automation.

AGRICULTURE — Raise price supports, use government payments, food stamp program and expanded program of foreign distribution to boost farm prices and income.

HOUSING — Expand federal aid to encourage building of two million homes a year.

MEDICAL CARE — Expand the social security tax system to provide funds for extending medical care to the aged.

EDUCATION — Extend federal financial aid for school construction and employment of teachers.

NATURAL RESOURCES — Develop and conserve natural resources for this and future generations. The plank says the present administration is permitting them to waste or go to selfish interests.

URBAN PROBLEMS — Establish a federal department to aid cities with problems of slum clearance, urban renewal, water supply, transportation, recreation, health, and other problems.

CIVIL RIGHTS — Pledge full use of powers of the federal government to end racial discrimination in voting, education, housing, employment, transportation, and other fields.

MINIMUM WAGE — Pledges to raise minimum wage rate from $1 an hour to $1.25 and to extend coverage to several million additional workers.

FISCAL POLICY — Pledges a balanced federal budget except in periods of emergency or recession.

TAXES — Raise taxes if necessary to meet unfolding demands at home and abroad. But it holds that an expanding economy plus better tax collection policies should provide sufficient funds to meet most government needs.

The Key Factor

As the activity and maneuvering at a national political convention unfolds, it is necessary to distinguish between the meaningful events and the mere noise of battle. Only those events have meaning which in fact effect the movement of delegates to one or another of the presidential candidates.

There are endless claims, counterclaims, charges, self-serving pronouncements. But unless they can be shown to have some clear relation to shifts of delegate support, they will simply be recorded as part of the inevitable verbal fireworks which accompany a convention.

The 1960 Democratic convention got its preliminaries under way with an unusually heavy verbal display but very little solid movement.

Only with the preconvention weekend and a flurry of endorsements and delegation caucuses did action finally come. Though many observers doubted the prospects of some, they took heart when they reached Los Angeles.

The aura of the convention seems peculiarly designed to revive flagging spirits. A candidate's supporters have only to land in town, hear a band playing the man's campaign song, see some charming girls plugging the cause and a forest of banners blazoning his name, and they are sure they have a winner.

It's all pretty intoxicating, and against such a gaudy backdrop reality often fades into the quiet corners. Optimism is the mood everywhere. The feeling never quite dies in many hearts that a barrage of statements and claims, plus hot-and-heavy maneuvering, will produce victory even when the candidate is clearly trailing or is an evident dark horse. The truth is that getting the nomination is a numbers game.

The man who wins is the one who not only has a substantial collection of delegate votes at the outset, but who has the reserve strength to reach the needed majority.

That is the test to be applied to anything and everything which appears at this—or at any other—convention. Did the event change any votes? Did it add or subtract from a candidate's total? What did it do to the momentum of the various competitors in the race?

You cannot talk your way to the nomination. You must persuade delegates, by whatever means you can. The candidates' relative delegate count is the thing. That's the ball for the onlooker in his living room to keep his eye on as this Democratic convention nears its climax.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Kennedy's 'Psychological Warfare'

By DREW PEARSON

LOS ANGELES. — Sen. Jack Kennedy developed a new technique for getting the Democratic Presidential nomination, which he will do today — and the smoke-filled rooms of Los Angeles had nothing to do with it.

There have been plenty of Kennedy huddles in smoke-filled rooms in other cities, but they took place before Los Angeles. Kennedy knew that, if he didn't have the nomination practically won before he got here, the old pros, backed by Harry Truman, would gang up on him, despite his hard-won primaries and his well-demonstrated ability to win votes. He had seen what happened to Sen. Estes Kefauver in 1952 when Estes beat the bushes and won the primaries, only to be undercut by the big city bosses.

So Kennedy's deals were made before he got here. And they were unfolded by key governors with the clockwork precision of an oldtime ringmaster cracking the whip.

If Kennedy prepares for the November election with the same ruthless efficiency that he prepared for this convention, Nixon will be in for trouble.

"Kennedy"—On Schedule

For instance, the newly nominated governor of North Carolina, Terry Sanford, arrived in Los Angeles at 9 p.m., called a press conference for 9 a.m. He did not consult other North Carolina delegates. He knew exactly what he wanted to say, and when he wanted to say it. Announced for Kennedy.

Asked whether he had conferred with Kennedy forces in North Carolina, the governor admitted he had talked. What was not admitted and was not known, however, is that, some time before, Sanford had sent word to Sen. Lyndon Johnson through his former schoolmate, Robert Redwine, who works in the Senate, that he would be for Johnson. Redwine added that Sanford was running up some time before, Sanford had sent word to nancial help. Johnson replied that he was against taking sides in primaries.

Lately Kennedy, the senator's indefatigable younger brother, made a quiet trip to North Carolina. Sanford had rolled up $106,000 of campaign expenses in his first primary — more than was spent by all three of his opponents. In the final run-off he spent considerably more.

After Bobby Kennedy's visit, Sanford suddenly cooled toward Johnson, the man he wanted to support and the man from whom he asked campaign contributions. Johnson sent one of his aides to North Carolina to see him. But things had changed. The future governor was cool as a cucumber. He was not interested in Johnson: he was not interested in campaign funds. He did say he would call Senator Johnson the day after his final primary.

Think It Through

By E. F. GUTTON

TO THE RESCUE, MEN! — A few weeks ago, Senator Kennedy said that seventeen million Americans went hungry to bed every night.

Not to be outdone, Senator Symington startled the Harvard Business School recently by informing them that "about 40,000,000 American families still have incomes below the commonly accepted minimum requirements for an American standard of living."

As his rival Senator Kennedy is a Harvard man, this was a bomb inside the breast works.

It is generally figured that a family averages around three and one-half persons. Forty million families therefore are 40,000,000 persons — out of a total of 180,000,000. This is about 78 per cent of all of us.

All hands to the pumps, boys! The remaining 22 per cent of us must rescue the 78 per cent from their sad predicament.

Mr. Symington's 140,000,000 people equal just about everybody outside of New York, California and Illinois.

If Huey Long were living, he would say, "Share the wealth." That thought is also found in the New Testament when a rich young man got worried like Messrs. Symington and Kennedy.

If things are as black now as these gentlemen say, what will it be in the closing weeks of October?

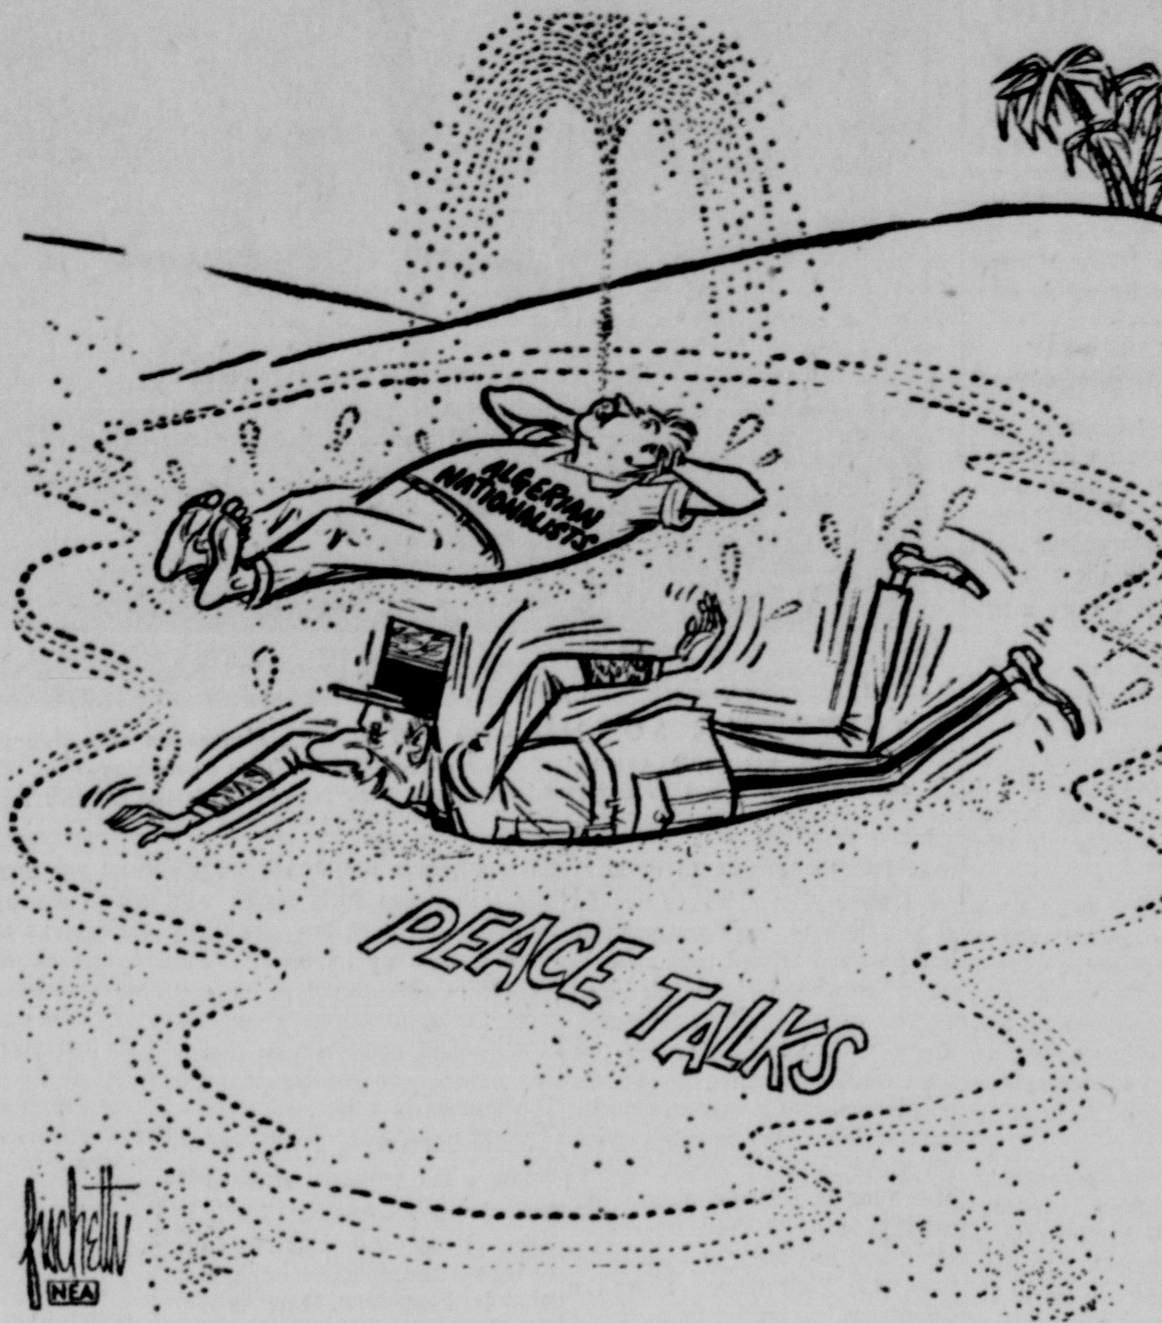

With the various Governments taking 30 per cent in taxes from these 140,000,000 people, I'd suggest that Government lift some of this burden off their backs.

How about it, Senators?

Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! He who sat upon it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war. — Rev. 19:11.

The net of heaven is very wide in its meshes, and yet it misses nothing.—Lao-Tze.

The World Today

More Than Enthusiasm at Convention

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 1960 Democratic convention is something less than emotional—in fact, dull so far—because more than just enthusiasm for an individual is involved.

The delegates' problem is a mixture of issues and individuals, since none of the would-be Democratic presidential candidates is an overwhelming personality.

And when the campaign begins—with Vice President Richard M. Nixon almost certain to be the Republican candidate—the voters will have to wrestle with the same twin problem of issues and personality.

This was not the case, for instance, in 1956 when Adlai E. Stevenson went into far more details on issues and where he stood than President Eisenhower, only to say the immensely popular Eisenhower swamp him.

The hopeful senators from whom the Democratic convention had to choose today—Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri—had fairly liberal voting records.

The distinction between them on the issues has been, in a broad sense, a distinction on fine points. To put it another way, on the issues the convention had little to choose, although Northern voting Negroes and organized labor made the fine distinctions and chose Kennedy over Johnson.

Symington has had an extremely liberal voting record, yet he is as of now a poor third. Therefore, something more than just issues alone have to be factors in whatever the convention does.

It's at this point the personality problem enters, plus some other factors.

Kennedy spent far more time in 1960 trying to line up delegates for today—by visiting their states, seeking them out, running in their primaries—than did Johnson or Symington. They ran in no primaries.

Symington handicapped himself in other ways. He didn't say he was a candidate until late, didn't get around enough, and concentrated so much on national defense that he sacrificed appeal to various other group interests, even though his interests are far wider than just defense.

Johnson probably outsmarted himself — although extraordnarily careful about details — in relying on supporters like Kennedy in rounding up delegates in the months preceding the convention. Kennedy did a lot of it first hand.

Johnson may have felt his work as majority leader in the Senate would make up for this—particularly as the Senate rolled up a legislative record—but it hasn't so far. And the Senate record has been very meager.

In addition to any leg work they did in rounding up delegates, the three men had to concern themselves with the problem of their personality.

Each had the task of trying to make himself appear the one best fitted to cope with the tense and unpredictable issues facing the country in the next four years.

This explains why Johnson, eight years older than Kennedy, tried to get across the idea an older man is needed and why former President Harry S. Truman, backing Symington who is older than either Kennedy or Johnson, implied Kennedy is too young and lacks experience.

The one chosen at this convention will have that same competent-personality problem to put across to the voters when the campaign begins and he runs against Nixon.

But Nixon will have exactly the same problem, beside dealing with the issues, since he cannot hope to sail in on personality. And for this reason: He simply lacks the popularity and war-hero stature that Eisenhower had when he won in 1952 and 1956.

The voter will have to decide which man's ideas—meaning his stand on the issues—appeals to him and which seems the more likely to be able to handle what lies ahead.

The Doctor Says

This Case Illustrates How To 'Die of Improvements'

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

You've probably heard the expression "dying of improvements" and maybe it has puzzled you as it used to puzzle me. Perhaps its meaning will become clearer to you if I tell you how I came to see the light.

My instructor was a middle-aged leader of her local society. Her children had married and gone their separate ways. Her husband had prospered. Now, like the lilies of the field, she neither spun nor toiled.

On arising each morning, she took her multivitamin and appetite-killing pills. These were followed by a "health" breakfast that consisted of mixed vegetable juices, black coffee with a sugar substitute, and seaweed biscuits spread with blackstrap molasses.

After she'd weeded her doctor's nurse into sneaking her in an empty room so she could get her "gland shot" without delay, she hastened to the podiatrist to see if something couldn't be done to her bunions that, in her own words, "were killing her."

Faint from her morning activities, she stopped in for a "bite of lunch" and chose the "low calorie special" of juice, lean hamburger, water cress and a gelatin dessert.

Fearing that service might be slow, she ordered a cocktail from which she removed the olive because of her fat-free diet.

Absent-mindedly she buttered and ate a few rolls that happened to be on the table before she realized what she was doing.

After luncheon, she visited her psychiatrist who was "working with her" in an attempt to explain why she continued to feel so miserable despite diet, drugs, gland shots, vitamins and health foods.

Just as they were getting to the point of deciding whether her persistent symptoms were due to the children's neglect or her husband's lack of sympathy and understanding, the scheduled hour came to an end.

Before leaving the psychiatrist's office, she took a tranquilizer to calm her nerves while she had a permanent and a manicure.

Noting her restlessness, the beautician urged her to have a container of coffee and some pastry. After some hesitation, she agreed and, not being able to choose which piece of pastry had greatest appeal, she ate two and a portion of a third.

She stopped and returned home to find her husband buried in his newspaper. Acting on the suggestion of her psychiatrist, she began a discussion of her ailments and complaints.

When she saw that he was less than attentive, she retreated to the kitchen and prepared the evening meal that was eaten amidst silence.

By the time the kitchen was cleared the master of the house was comfortably seated before the TV screen for the ball game.

Remarking that he "seemed more interested in that stupid game than his own wife," she retreated to the bedroom.

There she fussed with her hair, rubbed face and neck with anti-wrinkle cream, put on hair net, chin strap and eye shade, inserted wax balls in her ear canals and swallowed her sleeping pills preparatory to the nightly struggle with insomnia.

When she awoke in the morning, her husband had already left for work. She gulped down her multivitamin, pep-u-pand appetite-killing pills and was about to tackle the seaweed biscuits and blackstrap molasses when the phone rang.

In response to an inquiry about her state of health, she replied, "she was more dead than alive."

And that, dear readers, is how I discovered you can die of improvements.

First woman lawyer to appear before a jury in America was Anna Christy Fall, of Boston, in 1891.

Nearly 250 Rhode Islanders could be put into the vast area of Texas.

World War II Vets; File For VA Loans by July 25

By FAYE HENLE

Last bell and warning to veterans of World War II:

If you plan to apply for a Veterans Administration loan to build or buy a home, do so immediately.

This GI law ends July 25.

Veterans Administration spokesmen tell me there are two requirements you must fulfill before the expiration date. They are:

You must apply to the VA for a determination of reasonable value involving the property you wish to purchase.

You must submit an application to the VA for guarantee of the loan along with data supporting the request.

It is important that you make all necessary arrangements in sufficient time to enable you to submit all the applications and related papers to the VA before the cut-off date. Thereafter, the VA has an additional year to process these applications.

Veterans of the Korean conflict have until Jan. 31, 1965, before their VA loan privileges expire. Ditto for those veterans who have a new or older home.

One of the meanest and most cruel things that one woman can do to another of her sex is for a middle-aged or older woman to give a young girl a bad reputation.

A Democrat was walking down the street one day with his young son when they passed West Side Variety Store on West 16th. In the window was a political sign with the word "Republican" in big letters.

"What is that word?" asked the youngster.

"It's Republican," replied the father.

"What's a Republican?" queried the youngster.

The father stopped and took his boy into the store to introduce him to Dick Battles.

"Now I know what a Republican is," said the kid as they came out of the store, "it's Mr. Battles."

All over the big yard were mole holes mounds where the moles had burrowed through the ground. The woman didn't know what to do about it, then someone told her to put poison corn down in mounds, and she did. Well maybe it works for some people, but her moles didn't seem to like corn, or they were smart enough to know that it was poison, anyway they didn't eat it for it sprouted and grew until her entire front yard looked like a cornfield. Anybody else got any suggestions—how about poison wheat? —it doesn't grow as high as corn.

Kid Seeking New Worlds To Conquer

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny (Kid) Paret is looking for new worlds to conquer, but not necessarily at the risk of his still glittering welterweight crown.

The Cuban buzz saw knocked out Garnet (Sugar) Hart of Philadelphia Tuesday night in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round overweight bout. Immediately his manager, Manuel Alfaro, began mentioning names of champion or ex-champion middleweights as an opponent for his tiger.

"We're interested in Ray Robinson, Gene Fullmer, Paul Pender or Carmen Basilio as an opponent," he said, adding: "In an overweight match, of course."

Alfaro said Paret would go to Puerto Rico for two-month rest and mentioned Paret would defend his title against Frederico Thompson in the Garden Oct. 15.

It was a heartbreaking defeat for Hart, who had dreams of stopping the Cuban and then demanding a title match. He came in at 153½ to 152½ for Paret.

Mantle, still nursing a sore leg as a result of being hit by a pitch thrown by Washington's Pedro Ramos last week, is handicapped in the field and on the bases. Detroit's Al Kaline, his understudy in center field, also is bothered by a sore leg.

Ronnie Hansen, Baltimore's rookie shortstop, and Pete Runnels, Boston's veteran second baseman, both reported feeling better after suffering ill effects from the intense Kansas City heat.

Frank Malzone, Boston's brilliant third baseman, suffered blistered feet as a result of the scorching terrain in Municipal Stadium.

The temperature was expected to be about 20 degrees cooler for today's game, scheduled to start at 12 noon with network radio and television coverage.

Tremendously impressed by the one-hit pitching of Bob Friend in his three-inning stint against the American Leaguers Monday, Alston decided to go with another Pittsburgh right-hander today.

Law 30, was equally effective in the first tilt, snuffing out a ninth inning rally. Coming to the assistance of Bob Buhl with two runners on base and only one out, he disposed of the next two batters with seven pitches. It was Law's only appearance in all-star competition.

Ford, on the other hand, is an All-Star veteran, but his record in this game is unglittering, to say the least. In six innings, he has been clipped for 12 hits and nine runs for an 0-1 record. He started in 1954, relieved in 1955 and 1956, and lost in relief last year.

The player the New York fans probably want to see the most is the magnetic Willie Mays. The San Francisco Giants' spectacular center fielder, who thrilled the Kansas City folks with a superb all-around performance, once again will lead off, followed by Pittsburgh's Bob Skinner, Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews, and Hank Aaron and Chicago's Ernie Banks.

Mays, Banks and Del Crandall, Milwaukee's sturdy catcher, were the hitting heroes of the first game victory. Willie's contribution was a single, double and triple, and he came within a few feet of hitting a home run. No one in all-star history has ever hit for the cycle, although Ted Williams once hit two home runs and two singles.

Action Is Expected In Strange Case Of The Reluctant Indian

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball commissioner Ford Frick was expected to take some action today in the strange case of Vic Power, the reluctant Indian.

Power, a Cleveland first baseman, disappeared from the bench in Kansas City in the first All-Star game Monday, and sent word that he was ill when Manager Al Lopez decided to use him in mid-game.

"I haven't been able to reach everybody concerned yet," said Frick, obviously referring to Power, but there is no formal inquiry, but I am in the process of getting the facts together."

Power made himself unavailable to all concerned, but Lopez was on hand and had plenty to say.

"I can't understand him," he said. "He was late getting to the game and told me he had dizzy spells during the night. It makes you wonder about the difference of attitude in the players, about their own desires of wanting to win."

"I might point out that Ted Williams was used as a pinch hitter in the second and Mickey Mantle was taken out in the sixth. They're both pretty good country players and they managed to stay until the end to cheer the other guys on."

Demos Began To Act Like Those of Old

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For awhile it looked like the Democrats were going to give us a coast-to-coast tranquilizer.

But Tuesday they began to act like Democrats. They began to fight.

The day started with a debate between candidates Lyndon B. Johnson and John F. Kennedy. They met in something less than mortal combat. The day ended at convention hall with Democratic delegates fighting over civil rights. It was almost like old times.

Johnson, the gray fox of Texas, invited Kennedy to debate the issues.

It proved to be a heart-warming meeting. There they were, Johnson and Kennedy, telling each other what great friends they were, two old Senate buddies, full of mutual admiration.

It was so moving you almost couldn't see them needle each other. But they did.

Kennedy wondered out loud about candidates who don't enter primaries, which Johnson didn't.

Johnson innocently remarked on the importance of a good Senate attendance record, which Kennedy hasn't had lately.

Meanwhile, back in the convention hall, the second session moved along with all the alacrity of a dying elephant. Speakers got the same rapt attention Americans usually reserve for TV commercials.

The delegates milled in the aisles. They clustered around some people on camera. They took pictures of each other posing with Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and other celebrities to impress the folks back home. They ogled Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford, who wandered around wearing buttons which said, "Beat Khrushchev."

Temporary Chairman Frank Church, the boy senator from Idaho, begged the delegates to clear the aisles. They didn't. He got mad and threatened to call the cops. But the aisles remained clogged as if it were dollar-day at Tiffany's.

But it was Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, the permanent chairman, who had the roughest time holding or finding his audience. He stopped himself, pounded the gavel, and begged the delegates to alight somewhere.

Then he was upstaged by Eleanor Roosevelt. Her entrance brought a big roar while delegates turned their backs on Collins.

Mercifully, the governor was allowed to finish before Adlai E. Stevenson entered and received a huge, 20-minute ovation.

Adlai got off the best crack of the convention so far. After getting in and out of the crowd at the convention headquarters, he said, "I know who will be nominated—it will be the last survivor."

President Plans Golf; Conferences Are Over

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower, a round of business conferences behind him, has only golf on his announced agenda for today.

The President arranged for an early round at the Newport Country Club course close by the summer White House at Ft. Adams, part of the Newport Naval Base.

A Mermaid Maybe?

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP) — Two fishermen, Harry and Warren Heath, brothers, say they saw a strange water animal "about 14 to 16 feet long, with a black and white head" off Manchester Tuesday.

The Heaths said the creature surfaced about 30 feet away as they hauled in lobster traps near Egg Rock. Harry said it had two protuberant eyes and a black back that "looked like the shallow keel of an overturned whaleboat." After a few minutes, it submerged, the brothers said.

These Are Times That Try Patience

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — These are times that try the souls of convention watchers before the home screen.

The second session of the Democratic National Convention tested their endurance. That endurance must have snapped for most viewers as the meet ground on for six hours, less nine minutes.

Plus which, all three networks went on the air an hour early to cover the Kennedy-Johnson debate.

Man, that's a lot of viewing.

A rapid calculator has come up with this observation: Air time for Tuesday's political show equaled the running time of "Gone With the Wind" and "Ben-Hur" placed end to end.

The end result for loyal viewers was numbness. Not just physical, but mental, too. Politics aside, there was simply too much talk for any human being to assimilate.

The best part of the show was in the first half hour. The TV cameras moved right in on the Johnson-Kennedy exchange in the Billmore ballroom and caught the nuances of this rare spontaneous event. Only one thing was missed on the home screen, the knee blushing on Johnson as Kennedy finished his talk with gibes. None of the networks is televising in color.

Two rare moments were caught by the cameras at the Sports Arena. One was the entrance of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, which the TV viewers saw before convention Chairman Leroy Collins did.

The demonstration for Adlai E. Stevenson also was exciting. This was TV reporting in crack style. The cameras moved right in on the surging mob around Stevenson.

Large Supermarkets Face Problems During Expansion

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The grocery customer—and who isn't?—finds His and Her store ever fancier these days and often more efficient.

Some of the supermarkets may lull you and accompanying small fry with piped in music or entice you with an ever wider variety of food products—and nonfood items.

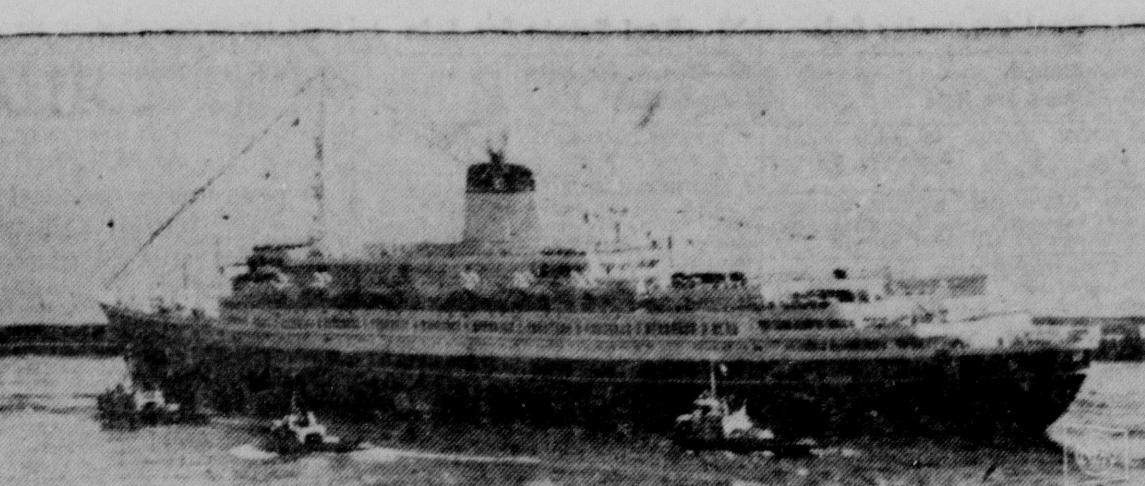

But while the food chains go on spreading and copping an impressive share of total grocery sales, behind their suave fronts are increasing problems that the music—or even the cash register jingle—doesn't lull.

The grocery chains boast that in the 1950s they expanded faster than any other form of retail trade. But with that growth they face today a squeeze on profits.

Example: the largest chain (A&P) reports earnings in its latest quarter were off 4.5 per cent from the spring weeks of 1959 and its total net income last year was 1 per cent of sales volume.

Food's share of the basic standard of living was 24.3 per cent in 1950 and 23.1 per cent in 1959. It's share may shrink a bit more this year, in spite of the Grocery Manufacturers of America's prediction that 1960 will see another record spending for food.

In 1959 food chain store sales rose 5 per cent over 1958 to a record 19½ billion dollars, or 39 per cent of total grocery store sales. But profit margins of all but one of the 10 largest chains
